Rural Mail Delivery in Bourbon.

The News is in receipt of the following statement from Assistant Postmaster J. L. Earlywine, relative to the business transacted by the several carriers on Bourbon's Rural Routes, for the month of Nov. 1902.

Route 1, H. C. Whaley, total pieces collected, 291; total pieces delivered, 1,616.

Route 2, John W. Crump, total pieces collected, 290; total pieces delivered, 1,515.

Route 3, Morin Moore, total pieces collected, 515; total pieces delivered, 2,380.

Route 4, O. W. Miller, total pieces collected, 136; total pieces delivered, 992.

Route 5, Henry S. Clay, total pieces collected, 210; total pieces delivered, 1,613.

Total pieces collected, 1,316. Total pieces delivered, 8,026. Grand total pieces mail handled, 9,371.

Of course this is only a starter. All the boxes are not yet up, and at least one-third of the country people still receive their mail from the postoffice at Paris. The Paris P. O. force expect, in a few months, that at least 30,000 pieces of mail will be handled monthly by Bourbon's five rural carriers.

SOCIALDOM.

SOCIAL CALENDAR.

Tuesday Afternoon—Mrs. J. S. Wallingford entertains the Married Ladies' Whist Club.

Wednesday Afternoon—The marriage of Mr. Frank P. Walker and Miss Bessie Thomas will be solemnized at the Christian Church.

Wednesday Evening—The comic opera, "King Dodo," will be seen at the Grand. Several theatre parties have already been planned.

Thursday afternoon—The Six Hand Euchre Club will meet with Mrs. Brink Renick.

Thursday Evening—Miss Iva Collins entertains in honor of her guest, Miss Fannie Holley, of Payne's Depot.

Friday afternoon—Mrs. Chas. Barnett will entertain at cards at her home in the country.

—Mrs. Earl Ferguson has as her guests, Misses Nancy McMeekin, of Georgetown, Martha Witherspoon, of Winchester, and Agatha Long, Georgetown. Mrs. Ferguson entertained the "As You Like It" Club last evening, in honor of her guests.

—The Bourbon Dancing Club, just organized among the young men, gave a dance at Odd Fellows' Hall, Thanksgiving evening, and it was quite a success. Saxton's band furnished the music. The young ladies wore pretty evening dresses in compliment to their initiative dance.

—Thanksgiving week was quite a gay week for the society folks, as will the present week, and then the week for Christmas will soon be here. Winter has already arrived with its cold rains and snow. There are card parties, luncheons and the theatre, and the days spent at home will be occupied in planning and making gifts for Christmas.

—Miss Fannie Johnson's Chafing Dish party, Friday evening, to Misses Margaret and Ollie Butler and their guests, Misses Ethel Moody and Ilene Fox, was quite delightful in every particular. The informality of the Chafing Dish party makes it the more popular and every week some one entertaining in this pleasant way. Miss Johnson's guests were Misses Ethel Moody, Ilene Fox, Margaret Butler, Ollie Butler, Lizzette Dickson; Messrs. John Brennan, Buckner Woodford, Jr., Oakford Hinton, Ed. Tucker, Albert Hinton, Clarence Kenney and Dr. M. H. Dailey.

—Mrs. W. E. Board entertained the Six Hand Euchre Club Friday afternoon in honor of her charming guests, Mrs. Samuel and Mrs. Smith, of Louisville. The Board home on Houston avenue, is one of the prettiest and most delightfully arranged houses in town for entertaining, the entire lower floor being thrown together with folding doors. Three pretty prizes were given. First prize, a brass candle stick, and the consolation prize, a pretty picture. A delightful lunch was served of nuts, salads, croquets, hot rolls and coffee. Those present, besides the guests of honor, already mentioned, were Mesdames Joseph M. Hall, Charlton Alexander, W. L. Yerkes, Thomas Talbott, J. S. Wallingford, E. L. Stephens, Brice Steele, Sidney G. Clay, B. A. Frank, Robert Goggin, Albert Miller, George Stuart, Duncan Taylor, B. M. Renick, Lydia Ferguson, Swift Champ and Miss Mary Brent.

—Misses Margaret and Ollie Butler entertained most delightfully, yet informally, Saturday afternoon, with a progressive euchre and luncheon, in honor of the "Violet Whist Club," the young lady visitors of the house and other visitors in town. The Butler home is noted for the many gracious hospitalities, and upon this occasion, especially, every one seemed to enjoy it most of all. No prizes were given, though every one was ambitious to be the winner.

The luncheon consisted of fruit salad, turkey with cranberries, celery, olives, hot rolls and coffee.

Those present were: Misses Ethel Moody, (Eminence,) Ilene Fox, (Danville,) Nancy McMeekin, (Georgetown,) Agatha Long, (Georgetown,) Martha Witherspoon, (Winchester,) Martha Clay, Nannie Clay, Mary Brent, Eddie Spears, Alice Spears; Lizzette Dickson, Fannie Johnson, Gertrude Renick, Frances Mann, Edna Fithian, Mary Webb Gass, Georgia Bostain, Mrs. Lydia Ferguson, Mrs. Earl Ferguson and Mrs. Swift Champ.

Royal Silk Plush Underwear,
NONE BETTER.

It never gets hard in washing or wearing, does not fade, although in delicate and beautiful colors; it neither shrinks or stretches, but it retains its shape—something no other Underwear will do. The plush being worn next to the skin, creates friction without irritation, which makes a glow of heat all over the body. Come in and get a suit and you will never wear any other.
